

3 Tips To A Great Engagement

Ron Cochran, NCC,LCPC

1. Relax and enjoy the journey

Many brides are physically and emotionally exhausted from planning a wedding. Let the memory not just be the day of the wedding but the journey to get there. It doesn't all have to be perfect to be a perfect memory.

2. Remember why you are getting married

I have witnessed many couples who are at odds because of the details of planning a wedding. I hear, "You're not helping with the plans. It all falls on me," or "All you ever do is plan for the wedding. I wish we would just get it over with." There are in law conflicts, bridesmaid conflicts and all kinds of bumps along the way. You are entering into marriage with the one you have chosen to spend your life with. Be patient with each other and remember you are a team.

3. Prepare for marriage and not just the wedding

You can defy divorce statistics and affair proof your marriage. You just need some tools to best be prepared. Don't spend all your time and money on the wedding and not prepare for marriage. Pre marital counseling is one of the best investments you can ever make.
